Dear Parents, Carers and Students

As we come to the end of our mock exams week, I wanted to take a moment to share how incredibly proud we are of our students. Their attitude, conduct, and maturity throughout the week have been exemplary. From arriving prepared and focused each morning to the calm, respectful atmosphere they created in every exam room, they have truly shown what they are capable of.

We know how much work goes into this period - revision, organisation, managing nerves - and it has been clear to see that students have taken this process seriously. These mock exams are not just about results; they are an important milestone in helping students understand where they are, where they want to be, and the steps needed to bridge the gap. Their commitment this week has laid a strong foundation for the weeks ahead.

As we look forward to the main exam season, we do so with confidence. Our students have shown resilience, determination, and a real sense of purpose. With continued support at home and school, we are excited to help them build on this momentum and achieve their very best.

Thank you, parents, and carers, for the encouragement, routines, and reassurance you provide - it makes a tremendous difference. And to our students: well done. You should feel proud of what you've achieved this week.

We now move onwards with focus, optimism, and belief.

Best wishes
